3. Re claims 6,9,10, and 12-13 The term "Allowable subject matter" has been respectfully deleted and amended by the applicant.

Re claim 6: The applicants have substituted "said cash card" with "cash cards" as requested.

4. Applicants respectfully believe that 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) is not a appropriate basis for the rejections relied upon by the examiner for the following reasons of attached furnished materials.

5. Applicants have amended and re claimed all of its claims 1-14 and the remaining numbered materials of this patent application presented to the examiner for examination. Based on the United States Published Patent Application 20040267622 A1 claims and materials relied upon, found in the Original Taylor Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited patent application filed 10/10/2001 published patent application filed 01/10/2002, previous patent first application filed 05/21/2001.

6. It is not reasonable nor can it be broadly anticipated by the examiner, that Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited could have anticipated anything at all from Risafi et al., Mastercard International Inc., after Mastercard International Inc., previously being sued twice by Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited for Copyright Infringing; first time dated 11/02/ 2001.

7. However it can broadly anticipated that Mastercard International Inc., did however, willingly and knowingly with malice of forethought did anticipate and participated in making broad claims and derivatives based upon Taylor Corporation Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited's Published Patent Application materials that were disclosed in the Courts.

8. Applicants respectfully ask the examiner to check the dates of who filed first their patent application of the original pre paid cash cards. Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited filed Its published Patent Application 09/973,626 on 01/10/ 2002 and Risafi et al., Mastercard International Inc., filed its patent application 6,999,569 on 04/23/2002 while under copyright infringement law suit filed against them and in the courts by Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards

Unlimited.

Mastercard International Inc., knew that Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited in their "Complaint For Damages" that Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited had a registered copyright and copyrighted text materials, picture and that Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited had filed a patent pending application number 09/973,626 clearly shown in Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited's Complaint For Damages Copyright Suit dated 11/02 /2001 against Mastercard International Inc., of which Risafi, et al. is part of.

9. Mastercard International Inc., has no registered copyright with the Library of Congress of Pre Paid Cash Cards, only Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited are the original authors owners and inventors of pre paid cash cards that is called what it is by name and owned by John D. Taylor and Steve K. Taylor. The Courts did state to the defendants and plaintiffs that the Registered Copyright and Patent Application were and are intertwined. Therefore the Patent Application materials had to be disclosed to the courts, giving Mastercard immediate and undeniable unfettered access to all of Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited registered Copyright and Patent Application records and materials. Mastercard International Inc., having unfettered access, it is reasonable to assume that Mastercard International Inc., broadly anticipated any or all of their patent materials based upon any or all of Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited copyrighted and patentable materials belonging exclusively to John D. Taylor and Steve K. Taylor.

10. Accordingly to 35 U.S.C. 102 (f) &(g) (2) Mastercard International Inc., Risafi, et al., (f)did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented, or (g) (2) before such person's invention thereof, the invention was made in this country by another (being John & Steve Taylor, Inventors of Taylor Corp Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited) who had not abandoned, suppressed, or concealed it. In determining priority of the invention under this subsection, there shall be considered not only the respective dates of conception and the reduction to practice of the invention, but also the reasonable diligence of one who was first to conceive and last to reduce to practice, from a time prior to conception by the other. Therefore Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited should be entitled to a Granted Patent. Applicants claim and submit to you that Mastercard International Inc., knowingly and willfully anticipated, made derivatives, of subject matter that they did not themselves invent. ("Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited invention, method process system and subject matter that Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited themselves did invent.") and that Mastercard International Inc., et al., deceived The United States Patent And Trademark Office into issuing and granting Mastercard International Inc., Risafi, et al., a Granted Patent under false pretences, "knowing they were not the inventors" and they themselves did not invent the subject matter. Applicants believe Mastercard International Inc., should not have been granted a Granted Patent, by the Patent Office, to the hurt of Taylor Corp. Pre Paid Cash Cards Unlimited. Applicants request that Mastercard International's Inc., Granted Patent be Canceled and "Squashed" before another law suit develops.
